How MAEIA Can Help Your K-12 Arts Program

MAEIA resources, tools, and professional learning help arts educators, school districts, and ISDs implement high-quality K-12 arts programs.

Our work centers on the positive experiences of students, teachers, and school communities within the processes of teaching, learning, evaluation, and continuous improvement planning.

Authentic Assessment

- Your students create! You measure their growth.
- Assessment becomes part of the creative and learning processes.
- Your students thrive. You feel validated.

Collaborative Scoring

- Teachers from around the state become your team members as you score each other's student work and talk about what you see.
- Team members deepen their understanding of quality student work.

Demonstrating Educator Effectiveness

- Learn to tell the story of your teaching, students' growth, and your discipline.
- Be empowered to teach your administrator about learning in your classroom.
- Feel supported as you move through the evaluation process.

Program Improvement

- Identify the needs of your arts program.
- Develop a plan for your arts program and connect it with continuous improvement.

Communities of Practice

- Learn and grow with arts educators across Michigan.
- Join a community based on your arts discipline or based on the MAEIA resources.

Why should you use the MAEIA tools and assessments?

1,000+ arts educators contributed to MAEIA resources which are high-quality, user-friendly, field-tested, and adaptable to your needs. Used together, they strengthen student performance, enhance program development, and help you demonstrate your value as an arts educator. And, they are FREE!

Who is using the MAEIA Resources?

MAEIA resources are used by teachers and districts throughout Michigan and beyond.

Who made the MAEIA resources?

The Michigan Assessment Consortium leads the MAEIA Project with support from the Michigan Department of Education. Professional learning is supported by the Michigan Council for Arts and Cultural Affairs.
